DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant has amended claims 1, 43-59, 67 in the amendment filed on 6/12/2006. Claims 1-15, 23-30, 32-42, 43-59 and 67-68 are pending in this office action.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments filed have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argued that claims 1, 4, 8, 47 and 52 do not recite a law of nature, natural phenomenon or abstract idea. Thus, they are statutory subject matter.

However, claims 1-15, 43-59 and 67-68 fail to produce a tangible, useful, concrete result.

For an invention to be "useful" it must satisfy the utility requirement of section 101. The USPTO's official interpretation of the utility requirement provides that the utility of an invention has to be (i) specific, (ii) substantial and (iii) credible. MPEP Sec. 2107 and Fisher, 421 F.3d at ___, 76 USPQ2d at 1230 (citing the Utility Guidelines with approval for interpretation of "specific" and "substantial"). The tangible requirement does not necessarily mean that a claim must either be tied to a particular machine or apparatus or must operate to change articles or materials to a different state or thing. Another consideration is whether the invention produces a "concrete" result. Usually, this question arises when a result cannot be assured. In other words, the process must have a result that can be substantially repeatable or the process must substantially produce the same result again. In re Swartz, 232 F.3d 862, 864, 56 USPQ2d 1703,

Art Unit: 2162

1704 (Fed. Cir. 2000) (where asserted result produced by the claimed invention is "irreproducible" claim should be rejected under section 101).

For the above reason, a new representation of the series of numerical values is not a useful, tangible and concrete result.

Thus, Claims 1-15, 43-59 and 67-68 are nonstatutory subject matter.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

3. Claims 1-15, 43-59 and 67-68 are rejected under 35 U.S.C.101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter, specifically, as directed to an abstract idea.

As to claims 1-15 and 67-68, while the preambles of the claims state, "a method for discovering fabric devices", the claims fail to contain a tangible, useful result. Thus, claims 1-15 is being processed without any links to a practical result in the technology arts.

As to claims 43-59, while the preambles of the claims state "A computer readable medium having stored thereon data representing sequences of instructions"; however, the computer readable medium is digital signal medium and contains no tangible result. Thus, the claims are merely a attract idea, are being processed without any links to a practical result in the technology arts and are an abstract idea.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claim 23-30, 32-42 are allowed.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
